

Trip Report Tres Rios January 28, 2018

Canada Goose (in flight)
Gadwall
American Wigeon
Mallard
Blue-winged Teal
Northern Shoveler
Ring-necked Duck
Ruddy Duck
Gambel's Quail
Pied-billed Grebe
American White Pelican
Neotropic Cormorant
Least Bittern - heard
Great Blue Heron
Great Egret
Snowy Egret
Green Heron
White-faced Ibis
Turkey Vulture
Bald Eagle
Peregrine Falcon
Northern Harrier
Cooper's Hawk?
Red-tailed Hawk
Sora
American Coot
Black-necked Stilt
American Avocet
Greater Yellowlegs
Eurasian Collared-Dove
Mourning Dove
Anna's Hummingbird
Belted Kingfisher
Gila Woodpecker
Ladder-backed Woodpecker
Northern Flicker
Black Phoebe
Say's Phoebe
Brown Creeper
Ruby-crowned Kinglet
Curve-billed Thrasher
European Starling?
Yellow-rumped Warbler
Spotted Towhee
Abert's Towhee

White-crowned Sparrow
Northern Cardinal
Red-winged Blackbird
Yellow-headed Blackbird
Great-tailed Grackle
House Finch
House Sparrow

AND ONE BOBCAT!!!

I confess that I did not even see (or hear) all of these species, but I was present when someone told me of their sighting (or hearing of the bittern).

One of our participants also added a Hermit Thrush, Chipping Sparrow, and a Yellow Warbler on her list.

If these three species are added on to my list, this makes a most impressive 55 SPECIES!
WOW!!!

If anyone else has more species to add (or question?) to my list, please respond.

If any of you (Dianne mentioned this especially to Chris, after talking to you) have any pictures of the group, the area, or birds seen, that you want to share, please pass them on - either through me, or to the individual e-mail addresses that I have used. Thank you.

It seems like you all enjoyed this outing, and I appreciate you all for joining me in exploring the area, and SEEING LOTS OF BIRDS!

Richard Kaiser